

CLIFTON INN, Charlottesville, Virginia

Overview:

Clifton is one of Virginia's most intimate, elegant and historic properties, combining the charm of a bed-and-breakfast with the top-tier comfort and amenities of a fine hotel. A member of the elite Relais & Châteaux collection of the finest small hotel properties in the world, Clifton was built in the 1700's by Thomas Jefferson's son-in-law, Thomas Mann Randolph; it features 18 uniquely appointed rooms that combine historical authenticity with thoroughly modern conveniences. In addition to its acclaimed lodging offerings, Clifton features an award-winning restaurant that allows guests to "taste the world" through a variety of dynamic, globally-inspired offerings. Clifton is located on a beautiful and impeccably manicured 100-acre Virginia estate, just minutes from a variety of cultural and entertainment offerings.

Fine Dining:

The Restaurant at Clifton delivers an exquisite fine dining experience, offering a worldly approach to classic American cuisine in a refined and elegant atmosphere. An award-winning wine cellar provides countless vintages and perfect pairing options for any dish you choose. The “Chef’s Table” offering provides a front-row seat for the “culinary cabaret” that is performed nightly in the Clifton kitchen; it adds a dynamic dimension to the traditional dining experience, and allows for a chance to meet and interact with Executive Chef Dean Maupin and his talented culinary team. Private dining is also available in our intimate Wine Cellar.

Special Events:

Clifton offers an array of creative options for your business event, from more formal meeting settings, to more casual environments, very conducive to brainstorming and creativity. Enjoy a breakout session under our gazebo, or on the dock of our private lake; anything is possible on our 100-acre estate. For all your catering needs, you can count on Chef Dean Maupin and his team to prepare unusual or more traditional break treats, a delectable lunch or unforgettable dinner. We can provide any audio-visual equipment for your presentation and our on site meeting & event coordinator will assist you in planning a successful event your colleagues and clients will fondly remember for years to come.
